

PRESIDENCY BEHIND ME, SAYS WILSON

Executive, at Paris Dinner, Intimates He Will Not Seek Re-election.

LAUDS AMERICAS' SPIRIT

Chief Speaker at Banquet in Honor of Dr. Pessoa of Brazil.

PARIS, May 27.—President Wilson was the chief speaker last night at a dinner given by the Pan-American peace delegation in honor of Dr. Epitacio Pessoa, President-elect of Brazil. In his speech President Wilson said: "The honor has been accorded me," President Wilson said in beginning his speech, "of making the first speech tonight, and I am very glad to avail myself of this privilege. I want to say that I feel very much at home in this company, though after all I suppose no one of us feels thoroughly at home except on the other side of the water. We all feel in a very real sense that we have a common home, because we live in the atmosphere of the same conception, and I think with the same political ambitions and principles."

"I am particularly glad to have the opportunity of paying my respects to Mr. Pessoa. It is very delightful for one thing, to know that my Presidency is not ahead of me and that my Presidency is ahead of him. I wish him every happiness and every success with the greatest earnestness, and yet I cannot, if I may judge by my own experience, expect for him a very great exaltation in the performance of the duties of his office, because, after all, to be the head of an American State is a task of unrelieved responsibility. American conditions, as a rule, tend to make the duties of the highest sort upon the President and so much of the responsibility of affairs of State is centered upon him that his years of office are apt to be a little weighted with anxiety and a little burdened with the sense of the obligation of speaking for his people, speaking what they really think and endeavoring to accomplish what they really desire."

Hard to Interpret People.

"I suppose no more delicate task is given any man than to interpret the feelings and the purposes of a great people. I know that, if I may speak for myself, the chief anxiety I have had has been to be the true interpreter of a national spirit, expressing no private and peculiar views, but trying to express the general spirit of a nation. And a nation looks to its President to be the true interpreter of its spirit. It is the comradeship of an evening like this does not consist merely of the sense of neighborhood. We are neighbors. We have always been neighbors. But this is all old. Something new has happened. I am not sure that I can put it into words, but there has been added to the common principles which have united the American time out of mind a feeling that the world at large has accepted those principles, that there has gone a thrill of hope and of expectation throughout the nations of the world, which somehow seems to have its source and fountain in the things we always believed in. It is as if the pure waters of the fountain we had always drunk of had now been put to the lips of all peoples and they have drunk and were refreshed."

Must Live the Part.

"If that is true we owe the world a peculiar service. If we originated great practices we are asking the world to imitate them. I remember not long ago attending a very interesting meeting which was held in the interest of combining Christian missionary effort throughout the world. I mean eliminating the rivalry between churches and agreeing that Christian missionaries should not represent this, that or the other church, but represent the general Christian impulse and principle of the world. I said I was thoroughly in sympathy with the principle, but that I hoped if it was adopted that the inhabitants of the heathen countries would not come to look at us, because we were not ourselves united, but divided; that while we were asking them to unite, we ourselves did not set the example."

"My moral from that recollection is this: We, among other friends of liberty, are asking the world to unite in the interest of brotherhood and mutual service and the genuine advancement of individual or corporate liberty throughout the world; therefore, we must set the example."

Warned Europeans.

"The United States upon a famous occasion warned the Governments of Europe that it would regard it as an unfriendly act if they tried to overturn free institutions in the Western Hemisphere."

BRITISH THINK U. S. COULD ALTER PACT

Diplomat Suggests Procedure by Which the Senate Could Act.

HOUSE TO STAY IN PARIS

Suggestions for Changes Could Be Sent to Him and Allied Representatives.

By LAURENCE HILLS. Staff Correspondent of The Sun. Copyright, 1919; all rights reserved.

PARIS, May 27.—Inquiry made in British circles reveals that they do not share the opinion that Americans here are advancing that any changes made by the American Senate in the covenant of the league or in the treaty proper would result in a tangled diplomatic situation of such complexity as to delay peace for the United States in contrast with the other Powers.

The British give the impression that they are watching developments in America more closely than any other foreign representatives, and from private advice which they have received are rather expecting some changes in the covenant at least.

How far the British or the representatives of any other nation would go in approving changes which the Senate may make in order to change the league cannot be foretold yet, this phase of the matter being open to much question. But as to the diplomatic situation which would ensue the British see nothing awkward or insurmountable.

A high British official informs The Sun that Great Britain, France and Japan are certain to ratify the treaty immediately, which, under a clause in the document, will make it effective as between them and Germany. The British are extremely loath to make a separate peace with Germany, approving in the main the treaty the Allies make here. Assuming, however, that the Senate desired to make some changes or reservations in the covenant of the league, this authority is of the opinion that the diplomatic procedure would be as follows:

The President would receive the treaty from the Senate with the changes it had voted, and performing his constitutional function as negotiator would cable immediately the text of the changes to whoever he had left here, presumably Col. E. M. House, as the understanding is that some plenipotentiaries must be left here during the summer.

The Americans here could then call a conference of all the other representatives of the Powers and endeavor to reach an agreement on the changes. This agreement would be reported back to the President, who would in turn retransmit the treaty to the Senate with a statement of the results of the conference here. It would then be for the Senate to decide whether to accept the changes as agreed upon by the joint conference here, to maintain the joint treaty and preserve the league, or to insist upon standing its ground to the extent of a separate treaty with Germany, thereby leaving the Allies.

It is conceivable that the Allies might accept without reservation all the Senate changes, which would make it a simple matter, the President approving the treaty as revised by the Senate without re-submitting it.

The opinion is advanced by the same authority that Germany need not be included in the next negotiations, particularly if the changes affected the covenant of the league only, for the reason that Germany in signing the treaty with the League of Nations, as prepared by the Allies, whatever it might be.

of the various governments established within the confines of old Russia, such as the Baltic, Lithuanian, trans-Caucasian and trans-Caspian administrations, if they were not able to reach by negotiations a settlement of their future relations. Any disputes with these governments are to be referred to the League of Nations.

Recognition of the Russian foreign debt, which Kolchak already has included in his programme, and assurances against a return to the old idea of land holding, which were so largely responsible for the revolution, are made conditions of the proposal. The solution of the land problem will be left to the Constituent Assembly.

The proposal, as far as can be ascertained, is not one of actual formal recognition, since this probably will be reserved to a Government based on a constituent assembly, but it virtually is equivalent to formal recognition.

Despatches received in Paris to-day announce that the reversal suffered by the forces of Admiral Kolchak, the anti-Bolshevik commander in Russia, was only temporary and that Kolchak's armies again are advancing against the Bolsheviks, who are falling back on the Volga line.

A despatch from Paris Monday reported Kolchak as having met with heavy opposition near Samara and being compelled to fall back along the railroad toward Ufa.

NORTH RUSSIANS IN PETROGRAD OUTPOST

Peterhof, 16 Miles West, Falls, Stockholm-Hears.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Capture of Peterhof, sixteen miles west of Petrograd on the Gulf of Finland, by the army of the northern Russian, which was probably assisted by British naval forces, was reported to the State Department to-day and Swedish news reports. The Stockholm Tidningen points out that the report presages the fall of Petrograd in the near future.

While expressing the belief that the capture of the town of Peterhof may be slightly premature the Stockholm paper points out that its loss by the Bolshevik forces means the isolation of Petrograd from Cronstadt, from which the Bolshevik warships have been operating.

The town of Krasnaja Gorka has been reported to be in flames in despatches printed by Helsingfors newspapers, which would indicate preparations for a retreat by the Bolsheviks. Reports from other sources reaching the State Department to-day said that the fire in the vicinity of Krasnaja Gorka evidently was caused by the burning of nearby villages.

Fugitives from Petrograd arriving in Helsingfors have reported that machine guns have been placed on the roofs of houses and that hostages have been taken in large numbers.

A Libau despatch received to-day said Riga was captured last Thursday through the cooperation of Lithuanian and German Baltic Guards.

AMERICANS IN BATTLE.

Contingent Fired Upon When They Take Village.

By the Associated Press.

VLADIVOSTOK, May 26 (delayed).—Early Monday morning two companies of American troops were moved against Korolevsk village, where it had been reported the Bolsheviks were mobilizing with the intention of destroying the railroad near Skotova.

The Americans were fired upon from the Hills beyond the village, but suffered no casualties. A dozen members of the Red contingent were killed, including a staff officer. Three were captured. There were two hundred Reds in the firing line.

The American morale was high. The American command is taking full measures for the protection of the railway and the operation of all trains necessary. The American guards expect no difficulty in handling any resistance that may be offered to the Allied programme of guarding the railway.

will get prospecting over your garden some day, pick out a likely cabbage for his home, and then move in with his whole family.

And first thing you know, when he discovers what an agreeable location he's selected, he'll send word to all his friends, and up they'll come to occupy all the other cabbages or whatever kind of plant home they fancy.

You'll have to be a harsh landlord indeed, to evict these undesirable tenants; better give them their dispossession notice accompanied by a death-dealing insecticide.

We suggest these:

For plant lice
Aphine, ¼ pt., 24c; ½ pt. 39c; Black Leaf, 1 oz. bottle, 23c; Grape Dust, 5 lbs., 49c; Fish Oil Soap, 1 lb., 24c; or Kerosene Emulsion, 1 lb., at 38c.

Send Blight to Blighty
and send leaf eating insects with it. We have two sprays in one.
Bordo-Lead paste, 1 lb. at 38c; 5 lbs. $1.73; 10 lbs. at $2.97.
Key-cide Powder, ½ lb. at 29c; and 1 lb. at 49c.
Vitro Liquid, 1 lb. 24c; 5 lbs. at $1.13.
Bordeaux Mixture Paste, 1 lb. at 27c.
Bordeaux Mixture Powder, ½ lb. 23c; and 1 lb. 43c.
Tree Wound Paint, 1 qt., 73c.

Spray 'em
Midget Sprayers, 29c
Acme Atomizer, 54c
Acme Perfect, 52c
Auto Spray No. 25, galvanized, 99c
Auto Spray, No. 25, brass, $1.19
Auto Spray, No. 1, brass, $9.87
Success Basket Spray Pump, $5.29
We also have bucket and barrel pumps.

For leaf eaters
we suggest a dainty meal of Arsenate of Lead Paste—1 lb. can, 43c; 10 lbs., $2.40; or Heliole Powder, ¼ lb., 19c; ½ lb., 38c; Paris Green Powder, 1 lb., at 73c; Slug Shot Powder, 1 lb., 14c.

Photograph frames at 98c are unobtrusive but pleasing in design. A delicate Grecian border ornaments the edge, and the finish is polychrome in effect—gilt with delicate blue or green rubbed into the wood. Complete with glass and easel back. Sizes 5x7 in., 6x8 in., 7x9 in., 8x10 in., 7x11 in.
